Helping Your Staff Reach Next Steps

In recent years, we've also expanded our educational mission beyond CPE. Now, in addition to helping professionals maintain their credentials, we also help thousands of accounting students and aspiring professionals earn their credentials through our growing suite of adaptive learning-based Exam Review solutions. Our proprietary technology, coupled with our practical, easy-to-comprehend content, help students pass the CPA, EA, CMA, CISA, and CIA exams far more efficiently than they would with other review courses. That's because all of our Exam Review solutions assess candidates' knowledge, then automatically tailor learning plans to address specific knowledge gaps.

Surgent courses have been proven to help candidates pass their exams more quickly while actually studying far fewer hours, making them the ideal courses for busy working professionals hoping to move to the next level in their career. What's more, Surgent courses now include ReadySCORE™, which helps candidates and firms understand just how ready associates are to pass an exam—from an initial baseline assessment, all the way through studying and up to the exam date. Based on an identified exam date, Surgent's ReadySCORE also helps candidates understand exactly how much more studying they need to do to be ready in time, encouraging first-time pass rates that far exceed national averages. It's a unique approach that truly takes the guesswork out of Exam Review.

We also offer a unique program called ReadyPASS™, which provides candidates with their baseline ReadySCORE, a detailed diagnostic report on their specific strengths and weaknesses, and an estimated number of study hours they need to become exam-ready, based on their current knowledge – all before they've even selected a review course.

ACCOUNTING FOR FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS: APPLYING THE FASB'S THREE NEW UPDATES

With the recent completion of its financial instruments project, the FASB has made some significant changes to how an entity accounts for many of its financial instruments. While the effective date for ASU No. 2016-01 is now behind us, new guidance on impairment – including its application to accounts receivable balances (ASU No. 2016-13), hedging (ASU No. 2017-12), as well as updates to guidance on marketable equity securities will challenge all entities, not just those in the financial services industry. This means you.

In this course, we'll review the new guidance in each of these areas and how it varies from existing guidance in these key areas. Specifically, we'll review the details of the new Current Estimate of Credit Losses (CECL) model will impact applicable assets, including A/R balances. Next, we'll discuss what's changed in hedge accounting and how these changes may make hedging transactions more appealing to smaller entities. ACCOUNTING FOR LONG-TERM ASSETS: ADDRESSING THE CHALLENGING ISSUES

Often considered relatively low-risk assets, accounting for long-term assets such as property, plant and equipment (PP&E), intangible assets and goodwill can pose significant accounting challenges in their initial measurement and subsequent valuation. In this course, we'll discuss the basic accounting model for various types of long-term assets, such as PP&E, intangibles and right of use assets. Next, we'll discuss the complex accounting around asset impairment and other valuation issues and lastly discuss the impact of recent ASC Updates, such as ASU No. 2017-04 on goodwill impairment and ASU No. 2017-01 on business combinations. APPLYING ASC 820: THE BASICS OF FAIR VALUE ACCOUNTING

While once thought just to apply to banking and financial institutions, entities now need to apply fair value accounting under ASC 820 across a variety of transitions. In this course, we will review when fair value accounting is required and when an entity can select to use it. Then we will review the basics of the ASC 820 model, including the concept of “exit price,” the various approaches which an entity may follow when using a fair value approach and the different levels of inputs which an entity may consider when determining fair value. ASC 805 BUSINESS COMBINATION ACCOUNTING: NOT JUST FOR THE BIG GUYS

Business combinations, and the related complex accounting issues that often arise from them, were thought to just be the domain of larger, often publicly traded companies. However, with smaller companies often having aggressive growth plans and with the wide scale availability of financing, business combinations are increasingly occurring at smaller and private companies.

Applying the accounting guidance in ASC 805, Business Combinations, can be very challenging, especially if an entity has limited experience in accounting for such transactions. Additionally, the FASB has issued several recent ASUs that have updated the guidance in this area. In this course, we will focus in reviewing the acquisition method of accounting for a business combination under ASC 805, including such topics as determining the acquirer in a transaction, identifying acquired assets and liabilities in a transaction accounted for under ASC 805, including goodwill and other acquired intangible assets, the accounting for employee compensation arrangements arising from such transactions and the subsequent accounting for the recorded assets and liabilities, including accounting, for impairment of such assets.

The goal of this course is to demystify the accounting around this often complex area of accounting.

Major Topics:

- Determining the definition of a business and applicability of the asset acquisition vs. business combination accounting guidance
- Determining the acquirer in a business combination transaction
- Identifying acquired assets and liabilities in a business combination
- Application of fair value principles when measuring assets and liabilities
- Subsequent accounting for acquired assets and liabilities

Learning Objectives:

- Recall the factors determining whether a transaction is an asset acquisition or a business combination
- Identify acquired assets and liabilities in a business combination transaction

ASSESSING THE RISK OF FRAUD IN A FINANCIAL STATEMENT AUDIT

The Association of Certified Fraud Examiners says that there is fraud lurking in all businesses including not for profit organizations. It often goes undetected for years and when uncovered, management and the board may question why the auditor did not identify it. The auditor's responsibility in a financial statement audit is to assess risk and perform sufficient procedures to obtain reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement due to fraud or error. However, failure to perform an adequate fraud risk assessment and report deficiencies in internal control, such as lack of segregation of duties can leave a firm vulnerable.

This course will discuss the audit procedures that should be performed in accordance AU-240 as recently amended, best practices in performing fraud risk assessment procedures, when and how to report control deficiencies noted in an audit and the most frequent types of fraud found in small to mid-size entities along with internal controls that could be implemented to help prevent and detect them. TOPIC 606: TACKLING THE YEAR TWO POST-IMPLEMENTATION ISSUES

While the effective date of Topic 606 is behind us for both public and non-public entities, issues related to the application of the new revenue recognition guidance remain. Whether resulting from SEC comment letters, peer group analysis or from continued internal feedback, many entities are continuing to fine-tune their application of the new guidance beyond the year of implementation.

In this course, we'll review common feedback that public companies have received concerning their application of Topic 606 from the SEC, some of which has resulted in changes in their recording of revenue under Topic 606. Similarly, whether it is due to regulatory scrutiny or their own analysis, many companies continue to tweak their financial statement disclosures related to topic 606. Lastly, in complying with the new guidance, other companies identified changes to their current business processes, including contract terminology, that they have either implemented or are in the process of implementing, which will aid them in applying the new revenue guidance.

In sum, though the new standard is now "live" there is still a lot of work to be done in order for companies to get to a steady state of operations under Topic 606. UPDATE ON RECENT AICPA STANDARD SETTING: STAYING CURRENT IN A CHANGING ENVIRONMENT

Professional standards are changing with the times and the desire of the AICPA to move the profession into a new era where use of data analytics and artificial intelligence will play a key role in an audit. We are seeing changes already as the AICPA has recently issued standards that significantly modify the form of the independent auditor's report. In addition, its Omnibus standard modifies several professional standards including those on related parties, consideration of fraud and the auditor's communication to those charged with governance. The new auditing standard on employee benefit plan audits makes significant changes in the auditor's report as well as other aspects of an employee benefit plan audit.

Recently issued Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services (SSARS) have addressed the consideration of going concern and other significant issues. In addition, the AICPA has proposed a new SSARS that will conform its standards with international standards for such engagements. Clearly, with regard to professional standards, the only constant is change.

This course will review recently issued SASs and SSARS and provide both insights into the new standards including how to best implement them.

Major Topics:

- New SASs on reporting and key audit matters
- Updated guidance on employee benefit plan audits
- Going concern considerations in all professional engagements
- Proposed SSARS on conforming U.S. and international standards

LEADERS COACH – MANAGERS GIVE FEEDBACK: THE SECRET OF BUILDING STRONG TEAMS

Employees today — especially the younger ones — are hungry for guidance. But they get it all too rarely. In other words, the annual evaluation doesn't work for millennials. In truth, it didn't work very well for anyone. Turns out, the typical models of coaching don't serve us well these days. The image of the confident coach barking orders from the sidelines or signaling plays from courtside is great in sports. This course is designed to suggest a better model for business.

This course focuses on the tools and techniques of transformational leadership. In other words, leading a team that's trying to figure out how to do something difficult — perhaps something it (and the leader) have never done before.

Major Topics:

- Understanding the difference between coaching and giving feedback. They're not the same thing.
- Dealing with "necessary conflict." The transition probably won't be smooth. Prepare to weather the storm.
- Failing fast. You will fail. Can you use the glitches, missteps, and mistakes as stepping stones to a better future?
- Asking the right questions. It can be harder to know what the "right" question is than to know what the "right" answer is.
- Seeing the blind spots. Identify what's missing in your plan, on your team, and in your vision.
- Building the bridge as you walk on it. Can you create a fresh mindset that's open to change and creative enough to effectively deal with it?

Learning Objectives:

- Move to "the next level" (whatever that is)
- Deal with a merger or acquisition
- Withstand the loss or gain of a major piece of business
- Address a sea of change in an industry
- Adapt to a new vision or direction

YOUR ENERGY IS CONTAGIOUS: LEADING THE HIGH-PERFORMING ORGANIZATION

In these challenging times, high energy organizations win. But where does the energy come from to build outstanding performance? From leaders — and not just the folks at the top of the corporate food chain. Energy is contagious — and that goes for “good” energy, “bad” energy, “low” energy, and “high” energy. Often, what we call “culture” describes the energy flows within an organization. This course suggests how to harness and boost the “good” energy that leads to great performance.

Athletes, entertainers, astronauts, trial attorneys, and members of the military train constantly to be physically and mentally ready to perform as a peak-energy team over short periods of time — a game, a show, a flight, a trial, or an engagement. Yet in business, professionals attempt to perform at high levels over many weeks and months, often without much of a break. As a result, they experience performance-sapping low morale, burnout, and turnover. This course seeks to change your outlook and approach.

Major Topics:

- Learning to manage your energy effectively
- Developing the ability to identify where your firm’s energy is being spent — and lost
- Understanding the different types of energy and what they can do for you
- Knowing why your people are “tired” and what to do about it
- Balancing the mental game and the physical game
- Training for the kind of energy you need most

Learning Objectives:

- Foster and focus personal and organizational energy for peak performance when it matters
- Avoid “energy sinks” that can sap an organization’s strength when it’s needed most
- Develop strategies to improve a firm and the health and careers of its employees

THE CHALLENGE OF INTEGRITY: ETHICS, LEADERSHIP, AND IDENTITY

Ask CPAs to look within to list their values, and “integrity” will always appear near the top of the list. Ask them what “integrity” means, though, and many answers emerge. But there is little debate that integrity is at the heart of the profession and leadership.

This course is designed to help CPAs re-think their identity in ways that will not only make them more ethical but also more valuable leaders in their companies, their firms, their organizations, and their communities.

ETHICS, BLACK SWANS, ELEPHANTS ON THE TABLE, AND WHY YOU DON'T SEE IT COMING UNTIL IT HITS YOU

"How come nobody saw that coming?" is one of the most common refrains of modern society. Whether it's the Enron scandal, the internet bubble, the economic crisis of 2008, 9/11, or a serious ethical breach at a local accounting firm, we seem blind to the signs of trouble on the horizon. This course explains why we often miss what seems so obvious in retrospect — and what we can do about it.

There are two kinds of people who get into ethical jams. The first group are the "bad" people who are out there lying, cheating, and stealing — and know it. And then there are the rest of us. This course is designed to help participants understand why that happens and what they can do to protect themselves, their organizations, and their clients.

Major Topics:

- "Blind spots" — why we don't see what we don't see
- "Speed kills" — the risks of stress in our fast-paced society
- "Sins of omission" — sometimes not doing something is worse
- "The way we think" — the tricks our own brains play on us
- "Transparently unclear" — the two-edged sword of full disclosure

Learning Objectives:

- Understand why most of the serious ethical problems in the world involve people who, if asked, would sincerely argue that they did nothing wrong
- Detect "blind spots" that we all share that put us at great risk — risk that we routinely fail to recognize

HOW WE DECIDE: THE TANGLED PATH TO ETHICAL PROBLEMS

"What was he thinking?" Have you ever wondered that in the wake of an ethical breach by a previously respected person? Often, the unethical action is hard to believe, much less explain. That's because, frequently, the conditions that contribute to unethical behavior are far from clear. These subtle factors are the "danger zones" that ethical practitioners — and especially leaders — need to recognize in themselves, their firms, and their clients.

Major Topics:

- "The Amygdala Made Me Do It" — Adventures Along the Brain's Low Road
- "That's Not the Way We Do It Here" — Classic Cultural Pitfalls
- "How Do You Know That?" — The Assumption Trap

HELP ASSOCIATES PASS FASTER

with the Industry's Most Advanced Exam Review Courses

Though the amount of content on the CPA Exam has grown significantly over the past decade, most exam review courses haven't changed their approach. They have simply added more material, while still recommending the same, chapter-by-chapter study plan for every student. It's no wonder that pass rates are around just 50%.

Surgent recognized that this wasn't an efficient way to prepare candidates – especially those who already know a great deal. That's why we developed A.S.A.P. Technology™, an AI-backed personalized learning software that's saving our students hundreds of hours.

How A.S.A.P. Technology™ Works:

ASSESSMENT

- ▶ Students complete a series of quizzes with content from all CPA Exam categories.
- ▶ A.S.A.P. Technology analyzes results alongside real exam scoring and calculates a baseline ReadySCORE™ – a highly accurate estimate of what they'd score on the CPA Exam if they sat that day.
- ▶ Students receive a Diagnostic Report, detailing their starting strengths and weaknesses and estimates needed study hours.

STUDY

- ▶ Using assessment results, our course builds a personalized plan to close identified knowledge gaps.
- ▶ Real-time algorithms continue to optimize study plans based on progress.
- ▶ Students can see their ReadySCORE improve as they study.

REVIEW

- ▶ Unlimited practice exams – designed to match the CPA Exam – ensure they will be totally ready come exam day.
- ▶ Once students achieve a passing ReadySCORE, they know they're ready to pass.

Benefits for Associates and Firms:

- ▶ A.S.A.P. Technology gets candidates CPA Exam-ready in 58 hours, on average, and drives pass rates nearly 40 points higher than the national average.
- ▶ Staff can more easily balance full-time work and study, thanks to a study program that takes into account what they already know.
- ▶ Surgent's course content complements the adaptive model – and today's learners – with video lectures and clear answer explanations that teach specific concepts.

A.S.A.P Technology's Innovative Features

The Daily Surge

Customized Study Content

After completing an initial assessment, students are presented with their Daily Surge each time they log in to the software. This dashboard is comprised of study material that's paired to each student's individual knowledge gaps. Content is served in various formats, like concise and focused lecture videos, reading materials from the e-textbook, multiple-choice questions, and simulation exercises.

A.S.A.P. Technology's real-time algorithms refine each student's study plan in response to their progress, ensuring each student stays on their optimal path to exam success.

ReadySCORE™

Our Award-Winning Exam Readiness Metric

ReadySCORE estimates each student's CPA Exam score and is presented overall, by content area, topic, and by question type, like multiple-choice questions and simulations. ReadySCORE is closely calibrated to real exam scoring, allowing students to walk into Prometric confident they're ready to pass.

95%

ReadySCORE estimates actual exam scores with 95% accuracy.

17%

MyMCQ reduces study time by an additional 17%!

MyMCQ™

The Right Questions at the Right Time

Our most recent software enhancement, MyMCQ, serves students multiple-choice questions at a difficulty level that matches their level of understanding of that topic. When students are just beginning to learn a subject, they see more basic questions. As they progress through their studies, however, questions increase in difficulty, adjusting automatically to the areas where candidates show improved comprehension.

MyMCQ reduces study time even further, while pushing students towards the level of mastery they need to pass the CPA Exam.

Organizational Dashboard

Mentor Your Staff Through Their Studies

For many in Human Resources and Learning & Development, coaching their staff through exam prep can be an arduous process, especially when relying on them to manually log or report back on their study progress.

Surgent's Organizational Dashboard allows exam candidates' mentors to see real-time study progress. Instead of waiting for them to log their own progress, the Organizational Dashboard allows instant access to each candidate's:

- ▷ ReadySCORE—our estimate of what they'd score on the exam if they sat today.
- ▷ Diagnostic Reports—benchmarking each associate's starting point, best and worst categories, and an estimate of how long it will take them to get exam-ready.
- ▷ Progress Reports—detailing each associate's study session progress by topic and question type.
- ▷ Video Reports – indicating which instructional lectures the associate has watched, and for how long.

The Organizational Dashboard is especially useful to help mentors in their one-on-one sessions with staff. With the information in the dashboard, mentors and exam candidates can work together to drill into the specific topic areas where the candidate shows lower levels of comprehension. Additionally, mentors can use the progress report data to help set goals for their candidates that can be easily tracked.

Since the data in the Organizational Dashboard is given in real time, candidate study progress is always up to date. This data can then easily be transformed into comprehensive reports for:

- ▷ Upper management, to track cohort progress towards CPA Exam success
- ▷ Mentors, to see the effectiveness of their one-on-one coaching sessions
- ▷ Learning & Development Teams, to help candidates work on topics that represent weaker knowledge areas across the cohort
- ▷ Human Resources Departments, to estimate each candidate's study time until exam readiness

ENSURE YOUR STAFF IS EXAM-READY with ReadyPASS™

Candidates may have read every chapter and worked every MCQ, but with other courses, they have no way of knowing how much they've actually learned. Even practice exams only represent a small portion of what could be on the actual exam. The result is that many students put in far more time and effort than they should, studying things they already know, and still failing nearly half the time anyways.

ReadyPASS helps exam candidates eliminate these frustrating but common occurrences. By completing a thorough assessment, candidates can see their ReadySCORE and a detailed diagnostic report. They'll receive:

- ▷ A detailed performance breakdown by content area and topic, so they know exactly where they need to focus their study time
- ▷ A comparison showing how their ReadySCORE stacks up against others who have passed
- ▷ The estimated time required to complete their studies and become exam-ready

ReadyPASS lets associates:

IDENTIFY THEIR BASELINE KNOWLEDGE

- ▷ Candidates can use ReadyPASS as a pre-study assessment to gauge how much content they already know.
- ▷ ReadyPASS often shows candidates that they know a lot more than they realize, encouraging them to sit for the exam sooner, when they're far more likely to pass.

INFORM THEIR STUDY PLAN

- ▷ Candidates can use ReadyPASS to pinpoint specific weak areas in their baseline knowledge.
- ▷ This helps them focus their study time on the areas they most need to shore up, rather than wasting hours studying content they've already mastered.

TAKE THE GUESSWORK OUT OF EXAM READINESS

- ▷ Candidates nearing their exam date can use ReadyPASS to ensure that they've truly learned enough to achieve a passing score.
- ▷ If ReadyPASS identifies remaining knowledge gaps, candidates can focus their limited remaining study time on the right targeted improvement.

PLUS:

Your staff can upgrade to the full Exam Review course after using ReadyPASS! They'll be able to jump right into studying since their assessment results and personalized study plan will carry into the full course.

Surgent Critical Skills Certificate

Excel for Accounting and Finance Professionals

To perform at peak efficiency, CPAs and other accounting and finance professionals truly need to be “power users” of Microsoft Excel. If you have new hires, junior associates, or other professionals whose Excel skills are not yet at that level, this new certificate program is the perfect solution.

Unlike general Excel training, our program was designed explicitly to equip new and junior accounting and finance professionals with the Excel skills they need to perform effectively as working CPAs or in other roles at your firm. The program is comprised of four 2-hour modules that are completely online and on-demand.

Key topics include:

- ▶ Mastering must-have skills for accounting and finance roles
 - ▶ Gaining control of your data with tables and conditional summing
 - ▶ Getting the most from Vlookups and other lookup functions
 - ▶ Unleashing the power and potential of the pivot table

Though this is a non-CPE credit program, attendees will receive a mastery certificate upon completion.
